Getting accepted on Merch

Under Organization Name I gave my company name as that is the entity I use to pay tax and use on all my Amazon exploits.

Under Website I gave my website robcubbon.com which looks good as I've been blogging for 10 years.

Under Industry Type I chose "Small Business".

Under the Addition Information field in the form I said that I sell Kindles, paperbacks, and video on Amazon and that I sell on Amazon FBA

I also said that I've been a designer for 20 years and that I run a design company. I think this is a good thing to say. And virtually anyone could say this. I doubt if they look into your background and you could have outsourced all of the design

You could also explain that you do t-shirt design on RedBubble, Spreadshirt, or any of the other print on demand t-shirt sites (Sunfrog, Zazzle, Cafepress, Teespring, Teepublic).

How to design t-shirts that sell on Merch

You need to think about:

1. The niche or the audience
2. The design

Think about American culture and women

Merch t-shirt design ideas

- 1. Topical. You can see what's trending on Twitter, or on Google Trends.
- 2. Events. Fathers' day, Valentine's day, Halloween, Christmas, etc.
- 3. Evergreen. T-shirts for professions, hobbies, inspirational messages, etc.

Designs that sell well

Simple, colorful, high contrast
Silhouettes and simple imagery
Active or action characters
Distressed designs
