What is Human Data?

Human data is data that has been created, and/or evaluated by humans to teach AI models the correct way to perform specific tasks.

HUMAN DATA

LECTURE SUMMARY

O O O O O

Human Data vs Synthetic Data

Synthetic data excels at scale and quantity, but human data enriches models with quality and depth. Together, they build more capable and versatile AI models.

What is Synthetic Data?

Machine-generated data created to replicate known content in areas such as language and math, or to simulate real-world data such as patient records.